

CTC™ Getting Started

What is Roku?

Roku is a small device that connects to your TV so you can watch movies, television programs, and more using your internet connection through Apps, or small programs that run on the Roku.

With the SkitterTV app, you get access to local and live television programs!

Also, with Roku, you have access to hundreds of free and paid streaming services for television, movies, and radio.

To setup your Roku player, you will need the following:

A broadband Internet connection
(We recommend at least 6 Mbps for HD and 15 Mbps for streaming 4K Ultra HD.)

A wireless (or wired) router

An HDTV with HDMI* and a High Speed HDMI* cable. For 4K UHD viewing, a 4K UHD TV with an HDCP 2.2 compatible HDMI* port is required.

A credit card or other payment method may be required

Setup and register the Roku and personal account:

- Plug in and power up the Roku
- You'll need a wireless or direct wired connection to the Internet
- Roku uses the HDMI connection to your TV
- Follow the on screen instructions

When you first sign up for Skitter, you will receive an email with the following information:
